

Yure Covich - Teacher Bio

Yure Covich is graduate of the National Institute of Dramatic Art, and has been an acting coach for over 20 years. He is the creator and Head Acting Coach at 75% Old School - Acting Studio, a training studio based in Sydney, that develops and enriches actors, film makers and artists in a supportive, creative environment.

Yure has worked with actors for screen and theatre in London, Spain, Canada and Los Angeles. Closer to home, he has worked with ATYP, NIDA Open Program, The McDonald College, and AMPA - co-ordinating curriculums, and training both actors and teachers. Yure has worked extensively with Indigenous actors and communities throughout Australia, developing programs in the Pilbara region of Western Australia and Northern Territory.

As an actor, he has performed on stage at The Sydney Theatre Company, Darlinghurst Theatre, The Old Fitzroy Theatre, Griffin & Belvoir St. Yure has appeared in numerous film and TV projects including Red Dog, Wymwood-Road Of The Dead, Event Zero, Home & Away, On The Ropes and will soon be appearing in the ABC series Barons, Marvel Studios' Thor-Love & Thunder and in Netflix's, God's Favourite Idiot, with Melissa McCarthy.